Liz Schrein

Dear Parents,

If you are a fan of green and white like me, yesterday was a good day! Another beautiful fall weekend!

MATH TEST

We started our math test Friday and finished it today. The tests will be coming home in your child's homework folder toward the end of the week. No math home-link today.

Spelling

Please make sure that your child is studying spelling words each evening. Our pattern this week is long "i" words: pile, tight, kind, etc.

Hurricane Harvey Relief

So many children lost everything in the hurricane; their homes, schools, pets, everything they care about. We felt as school that we must do something to help. Children have such giving hearts. We started a penny war today to raise money for this important cause. Pennies will go in our grade level bucket. Other coins and dollars can be put in other grade level buckets and count as negative money in other grade levels. If you have loose change lying around, please consider sending it to school with your child. We will be collecting coins throughout this week!

Fall Conferences

A confirmation slip reminding you of your conference day and time will be coming home tomorrow in your child's homework folder.

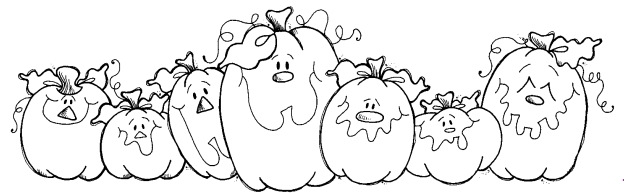

Halloween

Our Halloween party/parade will take place on Friday, 10/27 between 1:30 & 2:30. I will be sending a sign-up genius next Monday for treats and volunteers!
